

I support the New Jersey "Do Not Call List." There is a very high degree of lack of privacy in the world today. I don't want to be bothered by calls from people who are selling things, asking for donations, etc. We do get calls from Policemen's Benevolent Assns. (which are exempt) and on one occasion my husband received somewhat of a threat from the person on the other end of the line, that "he had better watch his driving."

We believe that calls from unknown people are an invasion of privacy--especially when we get woke up from a sound sleep or are called when we are eating dinner.

Again, I support the "Do Not Call List."
